Polaris and Golden Omega partner for the North American market.

Golden Omega USA will distribute in North America the high-quality algae oils produced by Polaris.

Polaris and Golden Omega are pleased to announce a new alliance which will allow Polaris to use Golden Omega's extensive network in the North American Market for the development and commercialization of their microalgae products. This way, Golden Omega will expand its product portfolio with very high-quality vegan Omega-3 options for its clients.

The French company Polaris has been developing along the last years an interesting portfolio of DHA algae oils produced with patented technologies, which allow them to offer a product very resistant to oxidation and with a remarkable sensory profile. In parallel, Golden Omega has reached in a few years a very solid and leading position in the North American market as a supplier of the highest purity and quality Omega-3 concentrates made out of anchovy from the South Pacific Ocean.

Louis-Marie Martin, VP of Sales & Marketing at Polaris, says, "POLARIS is very excited to start a commercial alliance with Golden Omega S.A and its subsidiary in the USA. Both companies share the same corporate values and approach in terms of quality and purity, making Polaris's premium vegan Omega-3 solutions a natural extension of Golden Omega's product range. Customers in North America will now be able to find vegetable origin products, to meet the growing market demands for Omega-3."

Claudio Aracena, Commercial Director for Golden Omega S.A. and its subsidiary Golden Omega USA, stated "Golden Omega S.A. is very proud of the products and leadership role that it has demonstrated in the North American market over the last 10 years. Our commitment to providing excellent products and service to our customers has been the cornerstone of our success. Since Polaris' products have these same characteristics, it was very natural to partner with them. We are very excited to offer this new portfolio to all of our clients in North America."
