Funding: Seventure Partners help Fintech company Anytime raise 5M€

Paris, November 15th, 2016 - Anytime announces that its latest funding round has raised 5 million Euros. A leading European player in financing innovation, Seventure Partners deployed €4.5 million for Fintech company Anytime- the remaining 500,000€ needed to complete this funding round came from the company's own resources.

With the support of Seventure Partners, Anytime aims to become Europe's leading provider of 'alternative or complementary banking services' for companies and individuals. This recent financing is an important step for further developing and growing the company.

"Anytime represents a new generation of start-ups that are shaking up the traditional banking system. Anytime accounts meet the demands of customers who want to be able to consult, manage and spend their money anytime, anywhere, on any device. We were also impressed by the pragmatism of the company's leaders who not only have shown great maturity in their road map for the company, but also have extensive experience in the Fintech world," explains Ludovic Denis, Venture Partner of Seventure Partners and a Fintech specialist.

An account that is an alternative or is complementary to a traditional bank account, Anytime meets the diverse needs of individuals, including younger generations, but also those of professionals - particularly those that are auto-entrepreneurs, start-ups, work independently, artisans, freelancers, in SMEs and associations. Anytime provides a toolbox full of options for its customers including: IBAN accounts, Mastercard or Visa cards with immediate transactions and an array of innovative services for sending and receiving money, the possibility to receive invoice payments by email or text message as well as the ability to charge credit cards on a payment terminal, manage business expenses and even automatically input account fluctuations into accounting programs and bookkeeping.

Supported by a robust and open (API) technical platform, the innovative Anytime concept is also available as a fully integrated white label service in order to best meet the needs of banks, insurance companies, large intersecting audiences and FinTech.

"Our mission is to revolutionize access to banking services by providing everyone with a banking offer that is flexible and without constraints and that, thanks to the large range of services we offer, can adapt to anyone's needs. Professionals, individuals, everyone finds their perfect account! For professionals, we have purposefully built Anytime in Banking-as-a-Service mode on an open API system which gives companies the capability to innovate. A strategy which radically sets us apart from all the other Fintechs on the French market," explains Damien Dupouy, CEO and co-founder of Anytime.
